

CERTIFICATE OF PERFORMANCE

Academic Certificate Programme at the Music and Arts University of the City of Vienna

1. Programme aims

For musicians, the ongoing development of artistic skills and the honing of one's creative personality are basic requirements in order to be able to meet the constantly changing demands of performing and the concert world.

Through the academic certificate programme Certificate of Performance, the Music and Arts University of the City of Vienna is offering tailor-made, high-level professional training to musicians who are looking to acquire an additional qualification suited to their needs.

This course is aimed primarily at graduates of music colleges and conservatoires and at ensembles (pre-formed chamber groups) who are looking to develop and/or specialise their artistic skills.

The individual needs and goals of the course participants form the central starting point for the programme structure. Through discussing and agreeing aims with teaching staff in advance, a focused course of study and the achievement of learning outcomes are guaranteed.

Examples of students' aims might include:

- Development of instrumental / vocal skills
- Expanding and deepening stylistic and repertoire knowledge (repertoire work)
- Preparation for orchestral auditions / audition training
- Preparation for and participation in competitions
- Stage presence
- Performance coaching
- Honing and strengthening your own creative personality
- Gaining concert experience

2. Programme structure

Length: 2 semesters

The programme is spread over two semesters and is split into the following modules:

- Principal Study (Zentrales künstlerisches Fach - ZkF) - 20 ECTS / semester
- Additional Artistic Practice (vertiefende künstlerische Praxis) - 4 ECTS / semester
- Portfolio Development (Portfolioentwicklung)- 1 ECTS / semester
- Mentoring and Reflection
- Course-exam - 10 ECTS

1. The module Principal Study comprises one academic hour (50 minutes / week) with a workload of 20 ECTS Credits and is offered in the form of individual instrumental tuition (KE) / group instrumental tuition (KG).
The course comprises a total of 30 teaching sessions (of 50 minutes each) in the Principal Study instrument. If necessary, and in consultation with teaching staff, these can also be taken as a block.

The Principal Study module concentrates on areas of study agreed individually in advance with teaching staff.

2. The module Additional Artistic Practice offers a range of additional options that must make up at least 4 ECTS Credits.
This module serves to complement and extend the areas focused on in the Principal Study. A workload of 4 ECTS Credits can be put together from the entire range of courses on offer at the University, dependent on available resources, for example:

- Piano accompaniment
- Orchestral and chamber music projects (Musikverein, Konzerthaus, MuseumsQuartier...)
- Opera production
- Master classes with visiting international professors
- Ensemble training
- Second study instrument (e.g. piano)
- Performance practice
- Advanced theoretical courses
- Self-management
- Professional skills
- Performance coaching

The areas of study that will make up this module will be discussed and agreed as part of the admission process. Non-university artistic achievements, where relevant, may also be accredited as part of the course.

3. In Portfolio Development, students document the skills acquired on the course and learning outcomes, as well as the artistic activities and personal development undertaken as part of the programme.
4. Another core element of the programme is a process of Mentoring and Reflection, guided by the chosen teaching staff and the programme director. This ensures that training progress and aims are reviewed on a regular basis and that students are guided in their artistic development.
5. Course-exam: The certification course is completed with a commissioner course-exam (10 ECTS Credits). In the margins of the course-exam the presentation of the portfolio is done (see 3. - Assessment)

3. Assessment

Admission exam

This course is aimed primarily at graduates of music colleges and conservatoires and at ensembles (pre-formed chamber groups) who are looking to develop and/or specialise their artistic skills. A degree is not an essential requirement for entry to the programme. However, sufficient artistic proficiency (corresponding to Master's level entry) must be demonstrated during the admission process.

Acceptance to the course is dependent on a successful outcome to the admission exam and the availability of space on the programme.

The admission exam can be done directly on site in Vienna or by submitting respective application videos and serves to determine applicants':

- a) motivation for undertaking the programme of study
- b) artistic proficiency (corresponding to Master's level entry)
- c) artistic and personal suitability

The admission process is split into three parts - applicants must be successful in Part 1 in order to progress to the next stage.

1. Submission of a short biography (including language skills), covering letter, repertoire list and an audition programme:
 - Short biography: applicants should provide a written overview of the qualifications they have gained so far, their (language) skills, and the areas their activities have focused on.
 - Covering letter: applicants should describe their personal expectations of the programme and what they are looking to get out of it. Applicants' should also state their current artistic activities and skills and those they are aiming to acquire.
 - Audition programme for Part 2: a programme for the artistic presentation that makes up Part 2 (corresponding to Master's level entry).
2. Artistic presentation:

In the artistic presentation, applicants should demonstrate their instrumental proficiency and level of artistry. The programme should be put together by the applicant her/himself and should give as strong an impression as possible of her/his artistic qualifications. Instrumental proficiency should be at least that needed for Master's level entry.
3. Colloquium:

Together with the applicant, a panel will discuss and reflect on the results of Parts 1 and 2 of the admission exam and examine the applicant's individual and artistic potential as well as her/his personal goals and suitability for the programme.

Alternatively, an admission exam is possible by submitting meaningful digital application videos under the following conditions:

- a) In addition to the documents referred to in point 1, a meaningful video must be submitted on the basis of the requirements referred to in point 2 to assess artistic suitability.
- b) Furthermore, applicants must submit an introductory video explaining the motivation to complete the certificate course (maximum two minutes)
- c) There is no legal claim to completion of the admission test in this variant, the responsible course director may in any case determine the completion of an on-site admission test.

More detailed regulations on this type of admission examination are determined by the bodies authorized by the statute and published on the website of MUK
